Living in Shame?

In the reading from St. John's first letter, he talks about our hearts condemning us. (1 John 3:20) He is referring to the shame we feel when we do something sinful. When he says God is greater than our hearts he means that even when we know we have sinned, even if we feel unworthy to be forgiven, God is still a forgiving God, who doesn't wait for us to be "worthy." He patiently waits for us to ask for his mercy, to want his forgiveness. So when we confess our sins, we need not doubt that we are forgiven.

But sometimes we feel shame when we have done nothing wrong.

It may be something simple, like sneezing in the quiet part of a symphony. Or perhaps something more serious, such as when you accidentally hurt someone. That is when it is good to remember that God knows what happened and still loves us.

The best way to remember this is by living as God commands, by loving God and our neighbor. If you believe in Jesus, you love God, because you trust that God sent his Son to save us. So we know that God forgives us even before we ask him to. If you love your neighbor, then you reach out to the person you hurt, instead of hiding in shame, and try to help them.

When we stop living in shame and start living in love, we know that the Lord lives in us. And as both the second reading and the gospel point out, we can ask for whatever we need and receive it. For when God lives in us and we live in him, we won't ask for anything trivial or selfish. His Spirit teaches us how to pray with confidence and faith. We pray as Jesus taught in the Lord's Prayer: "Thy will be done." Our love and trust in God will help us to accept whatever God sends our way.

FIFTH SUNDAY OF Easter
APRIL 29, 2018

Dear Parishioners:

As you read this we are either preparing for or well under way into our Spring Sausage Dinner! We hope for good weather, generous patrons and hard-working volunteers!

Events like our Sausage Dinners are a lot of work and can be tiring, but it is the best kind of tired that we can experience. We give ourselves in service to our community, working alongside people who share our faith and love of the Lord. As His disciples we tire ourselves out in service to Him and our neighbors. I can't think of a better way to feel exhausted and yet content at the same time. My thanks to all the members of our Dinner Committee and all of our volunteers who help make our dinners so successful. May God continue to bless all that we do at IHM. To all our volunteers who have been at it for years, I appreciate your steadfast dedication to the parish. To all of our new volunteers, I appreciate your willingness to join in the life of our community. To all those who are no longer able to work, but love IHM, I appreciate your prayers and support.

Peace

Fr. Tom

April 22 4th Sunday of Easter

[Jesus said,] "Whoever does not remain in me is thrown out like a branch and dries up; such branches are . . . thrown into the fire, where they are burned." JOHN 15:6

The movie La Dolce Vita opens with a statue of Jesus being towed across the Italian sky by a helicopter. Behind it is a second helicopter carrying a writer named Marcello. Marcello grew up in a small village in a religious family. As a young man he moved to the city, where he lost his religious faith. Instead of finding fulfillment, however, Marcello finds emptiness. The movie ends with Marcello studying a decaying fish on the beach. Cut off from the sea, it has died, as a branch cut off from a vine dies, as Marcello cut off from Jesus is dying. To what extent can I relate to Marcello? How can I firm up my bond with Jesus?

"Unless there is within us that which is above us, we shall soon yield to that which is about us."

Peter Taylor Forsyth

To the members of IHM: On behalf of the Burbes family, I would like to thank you for the support and hospitality you gave us during my mom, Connie's, visitation and funeral. We appreciate the open arms as well as the time many of you took to participate in her service, or to provide food for the luncheon. We are extremely grateful and humbled by your kindness. Thank you!

Carrie Stevener

Refrain for Communion Song:

Take and eat; take and eat; this is my body given up for you.
Take and drink; take and drink; this is my blood given up for you.

Regarding our Catholic faith, do you "walk the talk?"
Do your actions reflect what it means to be a good disciple? Are you an active participant at Sunday Mass? Are you joyful when participating in parish ministry? Do you give gratefully and generously with your financial support to your parish and other Church needs? If not, it's not too late to start!

We pray that our daily actions reflect our goal of good discipleship.

Mysteries, Marvels and Miracles in the Life of Christ and the Church
St. Pius V, Feast April 30

In an incredible pontificate of 6 years; Pope Pius V vigorously promulgated the decrees of the Council of Trent (1545-1563); issued the Roman Missal; the revised Breviary and the Catechism of the Council of Trent; excommunicated Elizabeth I of England; wrote hundreds of documents; and defeated the Turks at Lepanto in 1571, terminating their dominance of the Mediterranean Sea--all remarkably told in a short, readable biography (pictured above). In 1572, in the sixty-eighth year of his age, after a pontificate of six years, three months, and twenty-four days, Pope Pius passed from this life into the next. His body lies in the Church of Saint Mary Major. Through his intercession, many miracles have been wrought by God; being authentically proved, he was canonized by Pope Clement XI.

"Of the many miracles which attested to the merits of this holy Pontiff, even during his life, we select the following two: As he was one day crossing the Vatican piazza, which is on the site of the ancient Circus of Nero, he was overcome with a sentiment of enthusiasm for the glory and courage of the martyrs who had suffered on that very spot in the first persecution. Stooping down, he took a handful of dust from the hallowed ground which had been trodden by so many generations of Christian people since the peace of Constantine. He put the dust into a cloth which the Ambassador of Poland, who was with him, held out to receive it. When the Ambassador opened the cloth, after returning to his house, he found it all saturated with blood, as fresh as though it had been that moment shed: the dust had disappeared. The faith of the Pontiff had evoked the blood of the martyrs, which thus gave testimony against the heretics that the Roman Church, in the sixteenth Century, was identically the same as that for which those brave heroes and heroines laid down their lives in the days of Nero.

"The heretics attempted more than once to destroy a life which baffled all their hopes of perverting the faith in Italy. By a base and sacrilegious stratagem, aided by treachery, they put a deadly poison on the feet of the crucifix which the Saint kept in his Oratory, and which he was frequently seen to kiss with great devotion. In the fervour of prayer, Pius was about to give this mark of love to the image of his crucified Master, when suddenly the feet of the crucifix detached themselves from the Cross and eluded the proffered kiss of the venerable old man. The Pontiff at once saw through the plot whereby his enemies would fain have turned the life-giving Tree into an instrument of death.

"In order to encourage the Faithful to follow the sacred Liturgy, we will select another interesting example from the life of this great Saint. When, lying on his bed of death, and just before breathing his last, he took a parting look at the Church on earth, which he was leaving for that of Heaven and he wished to make a final prayer for the flock which he knew was surrounded by danger; he therefore recited, but with a voice that was scarcely audible, the following stanza of the Paschal hymn: 'We beseech thee, O Creator of all things! that in these days of Paschal joy, thou defend thy people from every assault of death!' Having said these words, he died peacefully." – Servant of God Dom Prosper Gueranger. This article was published in "De Vita Contemplativa" (Monthly Magazine for Monasteries), issue May 2013.

Dynamic Catholic® Alive!

"Without Me You Can Do Nothing"

How comforting it is to know that our Church has survived the storms of the last 2,000 years. Nothing can ultimately defeat it. Jesus Himself told us so. The Holy Spirit is in charge and God continues to raise up saints in every generation who speak boldly in the name of Jesus to evangelize others. We can only speak boldly and evangelize, however, if we remain in our Lord, for without Him we can do nothing. Remaining in the Lord means spending frequent time in prayer and silence, going to Confession and Mass often, and seeking Him in the Scriptures. We are called to proclaim the name of Christ in word AND action so that we might bear fruit for the salvation of souls. archstl.org/dynamic

"The Angry Christian draws from scripture, life in the Holy Spirit, and the virtues to fashion a response to anger that can become a moment of grace and holiness."

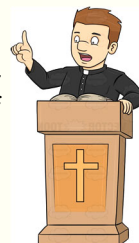

-His Eminence Donald Cardinal Wuerl,
